FRAMING MONEY MEASURE FOR CONGRESS

American Bankers' and New Chamber of Commerce Committees at Work on New Currency Law.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Committees representing the American Bankers' association and the New York chamber of commerce met in this city today to endeavor to frame a measure for the consideration of congress looking to the giving of authority to banks to issue emergency currency in cases of financial stringency. The plan outlined by the American bankers at their convention in St. Louis and that subsequently presented to the legislative committee of the New York chamber of commerce are not greatly different in character and it is believed that they can be harmonized to an extent that a powerful recommendation for remedial banking legislation can be made to congress at the approaching session. These plans provide in a general way for the appointment by the president, with the approval of the senate, of a commission of seven members, of which the comptroller of the

SLAYS THE MAN WHO THREW A BOMB AT HIM

Moscow Prefect is Marked for Death, Shoots a Murderous Red.

Moscow, Nov. 12.—A bomb was thrown at General Rheinholt, prefect of police of Moscow, on Tver street, today. The general, according to the generally accepted version of the affair, drew a revolver and killed the man who threw the bomb. According to the details of the affair obtainable, the general, confident that the power of the terrorist organization, which had long menaced his life, had been broken by the recent arrests and decorations, was for the first time in months taking a walk near the prefecture of police, accompanied by a police captain and two aides. Suddenly a young man on the opposite side of the street threw a bomb at the general, which fell short, though splinters pierced his overcoat. The official account says that the bomb thrower was shot by a policeman, but according to popular report the prefect himself rushed across the street and shot his assailant through the head.

IMMIGRANT TRAIN ON B. & O. BURNED

After Collision at Woodville Fire Consumes Entire Train of Six Cars and Half Hundred Foreigners Perish.

RUSSIAN JEWS, SERVIAN AND POLES WERE THE VICTIMS

Chicago, Nov. 12.—At 1 o'clock officials of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad announced that they had received positive news from the wreck at Woodville, Ind., and it was known that out of the 135 people on the train forty were killed, 35 injured and sixty escaped unhurt.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 12.—Fifty out of 167 immigrants who were on a Baltimore and Ohio train which collided head-on with a freight train this morning at Woodville, ten miles north of here, are missing and it is believed their bodies were consumed by the fire which destroyed six coaches of the immigrant train.

The immigrant train was bound for Chicago. The accident was caused by the freight crew failing to observe signals on the first section of the immigrant train that another section was following.

The immigrant train caught fire and was entirely consumed.

But 117 Accounted For.

There were 167 passengers on board the train and 117 of the party have been accounted for.

All the injured were taken to the Mercy hospital at Chicago on a special train after their injuries had been attended to by a corps of physicians from this city.

All the crews on both trains escaped except the fireman on the immigrant train, who was killed.

Both engines were demolished.

A wrecking crew from Chicago is now at the scene of the accident clearing away the wreckage.

The immigrants consisted of Russian Jews, Servians and Poles and were en route via Chicago to the northwest.

RUNNING AT HIGH SPEED.

The passenger train was running forty miles an hour, the freight twenty. The locomotives plowed through each other. Doctors were picked up at every point between Garrett and Suman by a wrecking train which brought fifty to the scene, first reports being that 100 passengers had been killed or seriously injured. Responsibility for the wreck is not placed, but the understanding is that some railroad man blundered in the transmission of orders.

Some of the injured. Partial list of the injured: Robert Novich, arm broken, lost wife and three children. Lon Collan, collarbone broken. Anthony Barker, Garrett, Ind., engineer of the freight train, scalded about the head and back. Samuel Moss, Garrett, Ind., head cut. Frank Rensmann, passenger engineer, Garrett, Ind., leg injured. Snyder, baggage master, head cut.

Koster, leg broken. Nick Opovich, head cut. Ralph Oether, internal injuries. P. Petroff, internal injuries. R. Tuzhmark, internal injuries. Redell and wife, badly burned. P. Ernatha, fatally scalded. Rolshoff, badly burned. H. Holstoft, badly burned. Injured ———, collarbone broken, lost wife and two children. Krumer, scalp wound. J. Ritter, back hurt; wife and two children missing. Swarzensky, head badly cut. Laci, back injured. C. Ritter, leg broken. Twenty of the injured are still at nearby farm houses. As they cannot ACCIDENT DUE TO CONFUSION.

Misunderstanding of Orders Cause of the Disaster.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—A disastrous wreck occurred today on the Baltimore & Ohio at Woodville, Ind., about thirty miles from this city.

The accident is said to have been caused by a confusion regarding signals, which allowed the immigrant train to pass a station when a freight was approaching from the opposite direction. The two trains came together at full speed and the impact wrecked both of them completely.

A number of the cars of the immigrant train were hurled down a ten foot embankment and immediately caught fire. Although every possible effort was made to extricate them from the wreckage the flames spread so rapidly that this was impossible in many cases and it is certain that fully a score were burned to death before aid could be given them. It is known that five of the immigrants were killed outright and the engineer of the immigrant train was so badly injured that his recovery is impossible.

Gender Doctors Along the Line.

Woodville is a small station about ten miles north of Valparaiso and all was immediately summoned from that place. A wrecking train which was at once made up at Woodville was despatched along the line to secure medical aid and every physician within reach was rushed at once on board the train and hurried back to Woodville.

The accident, it is declared, was the result of a misunderstanding by a train dispatcher, who ordered a west bound train held at Chicago Junction, Ind., to allow an east bound passenger to pass. The passenger train was running in two sections, but the conductor of the west bound train was not notified of this. When the first section had passed, he therefore pulled out and started for Chicago on the main track and the collision followed.

The colliding trains were express train No. 47, west bound, made up of express and passenger cars, and freight train No. 96, east bound. The express train had 150 passengers on board, nearly all of whom were immigrants. The railroad company gathered physicians from every available point and a wreck train from Chicago brought others. There were fifty at the scene to attend the injured. The wreck occurred on a curve and the engineers had but time to reverse their levers and jump.

Injured Taken to Chicago.

At 10:30 o'clock the Baltimore and Ohio notified the physicians in charge of Mercy hospital to be prepared for the reception of forty injured persons. The train is scheduled to arrive in this city at noon.

Immediately after notifying Mercy hospital to prepare for the reception of the wounded in the Woodville wreck, the officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad requested the aid of the police department in caring for them and Chief of Police Collins ordered fourteen ambulances to meet the train at the depot. It was then announced by the officials of the road

SUSPICION TOO MUCH; MAN AND WIFE DIE TOGETHER

Michigan Man, Suspected of Murder, Found Dead With Spouse.

Owosso, Mich., Nov. 12.—Bert Seeley, who was under suspicion in connection with the murder of Edwin Edgar, in West Haven township, last Wednesday, was found dead in bed today, and lying beside was his young wife, also dead. They were found by Seeley's brother.

It is thought that the couple committed suicide. There was no evidence of a struggle in the bedroom and on a stand near the bed stood a glass with a spoon and a white tablet beside it.

Edgar was found shot dead in the road near his home last Thursday in the course of their investigation officers found that Edgar and Seeley had quarreled a number of times. Seeley was suspected and the officers yesterday secured from his wife a statement that there had been a long seething enmity between the two men as a result of an imputation of Edgar against her. She told the officer that her husband had been subject to violent spasms for a year and said that she believed he ought to be in an asylum. Both Seeley and Mrs. Seeley were to have been witnesses today at the inquest into Edgar's murder and it was when he went to their home to discuss the inquest with them that Seeley's brother found the couple dead today.

MRS. SAGE TO GIVE AWAY MILLIONS

Widow of Late Wall Street Money Lender Will Give $80,000,000 to Worthy Persons.

NOTHING GIVEN TO ENDOW CHURCHES

New York, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Russell Sage will give away the bulk of the fortune of about $80,000,000 bequeathed to her by her late husband to individuals whom she considers worthy. It will not be given to endow churches nor to those who write begging letters. "I shall keep only sufficient of the fortune left to me by my husband to live quietly and comfortably," Mrs. Sage said today. "The fact that churches are endowed puts them beyond the necessity of work, thus making them indifferent and negligent along the line where Christian institutions should do the most good. I mean to give to those individuals whom I think worthy. When I have left only enough to live comfortably perhaps I may not be annoyed by persons indelicate enough to beg for help, as I am now."

"I wish to help men and women of the higher or lower walks of life who through no fault of their own are so unfortunate as to need assistance and too proud to ask. Such persons I deem it a pleasure, a privilege and duty to aid. Persons who were faithful and kind to Mr. Sage will be remembered, as I know he wished me to do so. In all my plans I am carrying out his desires. I am certain."

Mrs. Sage says she will do all she can to aid institutions and churches devoted to the care of the needy and sick. She declared that she intended to buy a home for a clerk in a railroad office who was kind to Mr. Sage. The bodies of her paternal grandparents, now buried on a farm near Troy, will be removed to a cemetery in that city and the burial place of her maternal grandparents in Sag Harbor, R. I., will be cared for.

ERIE FIREMEN HAVE VOTED TO STRIKE

Great Railway System Soon to Be in Throes of Fierce Struggle With Powerful Brotherhood.

New York, Nov. 12.—Grand Chief Hanrahan, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in speaking of the strike vote now being taken by the Erie firemen, whose demands were refused by the railroad officials, said last night: "From my observations at this end of the line I am certain that the vote on a strike will be unanimous. It is not usual to make public the fact that a poll on the question of a strike is to be taken, but we think it only fair to shippers and others whose interests would be affected by a strike, should a strike be declared, that they should know exactly how matters stand, so as to be prepared."

"We have not been looking for a strike, but only one who knows the hours of work on the railroads and the long strain on the men, coupled with the low wages, will realize that our demands are very moderate. We want to be only as fairly treated as men in other vocations."

Among the railroad men at the Grand Central hotel, where the union conferences are in progress, the hope is expressed that the Erie company will avoid trouble by making a counter-proposition. Such a proposal, it was said, would receive careful consideration and would be replied to even though a vote to strike was in and had been counted.

There will be numerous conferences this week between the engineers and firemen and the officials of the Lackawanna, New York Central, New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

It was stated on Saturday that Grand Chief Stone would leave for his home in Cleveland yesterday. He was still at the Hotel Belmont last night and it was announced that it had been determined that he would remain here indefinitely. Assistant Grand Chief Hurley will also remain on the ground.

Vote Almost Unanimous for Strike.

Grand Master Hanrahan, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, said today that the poll of the Erie firemen has resulted in an almost unanimous vote in favor of a strike, so far as returns have been received. There are 1,600 firemen on the Erie's various lines. The question at issue in all the cases is practically the same and the movement which has been started by the employees of these roads is said to be part of a campaign which is to be waged on all the great railroad systems of the country.

Warren M. Stone, of Cleveland, grand chief of the Order of Locomotive Engineers, is in this city to look after the interest of members of his organization.

Mr. Stone had a conference today with Grand Master Hanrahan, of the firemen's organization, and later in the day met William H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

The adjustment committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is formulating a set of demands to be made by the engineers of the Erie railroad. They will be presented to President Underwood and General Manager Stuart within a few days, irrespective of the demands made by the firemen. The engineers have a contract with the Erie which does not

THE GOVERNOR OF SOUTH CAROLINA HITS THE LAZY NEGRO

Tells Conference on Race Issue Negro Must Solve Race Question.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The second annual session of the Southern Immigration and Quarantine conference was called to order today at the capital. The conference was organized a year ago at Chattanooga and its efforts resulted indirectly in the enactment of better quarantine regulations by the federal government. This year the necessity for quarantine is not as pressing as it was last fall and that question, while it will be discussed to some extent, will give way to the question of immigration.

The real purpose of the conference is to bring about a more equitable distribution of the immigrants who reach the United States from foreign shores. The idle negro class causes some apprehension in the minds of immigrants, according to those believed to be well informed, and this operates against the south receiving what it thinks is its proper share of laborers from abroad.

Various plans are suggested for ridding the south of the worthless negroes and the race question, therefore, was early injected into the discussion.

Governor Heyward's Address. Governor D. C. Heyward, of South Carolina, opened his address, which was the feature of the morning session.

Too Much Theorizing. Governor Heyward said the coming of immigrants to the south had a bearing upon the practical and direct solution of the race problem. There had been too much theorizing; it was time for action. He said:

"Any solution of our race problem in the south lies with the negro as with the white man, but one of the greatest barriers to any advancement of the negro is his natural indolence. This explains his failure to use his opportunity and in this he alone is responsible for the disastrous results which follow. The white race is the predominant race and the negro must understand once for all that the bounds of the social and political questions will be determined by the white man alone and by the white man's code. He has a right to expect that his civil status should be the same in every respect as that of the white man. A proper understanding of these fundamental principles by the negro—and there is no reason why he should not understand—would be a long step in the right direction. If he refuses to adjust himself to these inflexible conditions, then the negro will have to go."

LABOR CONVENTION BEGINS.

American Federation in Annual Session in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—The 26th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened here today with President Samuel D. Gompers in attendance. Twenty women delegates were present.

Governor Johnson, in his welcoming address, said that he not only welcomed the federation, but wished it godspeed in its work for the uplifting of the laboring men of the United States. The credentials committee then presented its report. This led to a re-opening of the old controversy between the plumbers and the steam fitters.

REVOLUTION COMING SAYS WOMAN OF MILLIONS.

Hetty Green Declares the People and Trusts are Near Bloody War.

Boston, Nov. 12.—"There is going to be a revolution in this country," said Mrs. Hetty Green yesterday, "and the people are going to revolt against the oppressions of the trusts. There will be a deluge, and these streets will run with blood when the people are aroused."

"The people are finding out gradually about the trusts, and when they realize a little more fully how they are ruining the chances of the average person there is going to be a revolution. It will be a deluge, I tell you."

Mrs. Green, who probably is the richest woman in the United States, holder of stock in many corporations, and who transacts her business in the office of the Chemical National bank of New York, has many interests closely connected with big corporations. Yet Mrs. Green is against trusts. She thinks them iniquitous.

She is living for the present with her daughter on Highland street, where she owns a number of houses. She consented to pose for a newspaper photographer, and was giving him advice about how to invest his money when she interrupted herself to condemn trusts.

GENERAL SHAFTER DIES OF PNEUMONIA IN CALIFORNIA.

Commander of the American Troops at Santiago Passes Away.

Bakersfield, Cal., Nov. 12.—Major General William R. Shafter, U. S. A. (retired) died this afternoon. General

Shafter enlisted from Michigan as a volunteer in the civil war and at the close of that conflict entered the regular army, rising to the rank of major general. He commanded the American forces in Cuba during the Spanish-American war and personally commanded in the campaign before Santiago.

that the train would not reach this city before 3:30 o'clock.

SCENES HEARTRENDING.

Immigrants Helpless in Wreckage Died Miserably in Flames.

Laporte, Ind., Nov. 12.—Later reports from the scene of the Batimore and Ohio railroad wreck are that the passenger train contained 167 passengers, all immigrants for Chicago. Most of them were Polish. Only 122 of them have so far been accounted for, leaving the list of dead and missing between forty and fifty. Most of these are believed to have perished in the wreckage, which caught fire at once, all passenger coaches and three freight cars being destroyed. The injured will number forty. The immigrant train was the second section of the regular express and the first section did not carry any signal to indicate that the second section was following. The freight train pulled out on the main track and met the immigrant train on the curve. The engineers and firemen saved themselves by jumping, though the engineer on the passenger train was badly scalded by escaping steam. The passengers were asleep when the accident occurred and many were killed while they were heartrending. For the first time the wreckage and the first section reached themselves before the flames reached them and they were consumed. Cries of the dying filled the air and those who were not badly hurt tried to save others, but they were not very successful, as the flames drove them back. The injured and those saved were taken to Chicago on a special train.

LOUISE WESSEL'S APPEAL IN COURT

IS TRYING TO DEFEAT STATE MEDICAL BOARD.

Her Attorneys Spar to Keep Out Damaging Testimony—The Court News.

The appeal of Louise Wessel from the decision of the Indiana board of medical registration revoking her license to practice midwifery was taken up this afternoon in the superior court and an hour or more consumed in arguments relative to the admission of the deposition of Miss Eva Boykin. She was sent here by the state board to secure evidence and testified in a case in which Mrs. Wessel was up for criminal practice.

There were in the court room a number of witnesses ready to testify, and in event of the hearing the state will rely upon the evidence that has already been introduced either in criminal proceedings or before the board. James Gavin, of Indianapolis, and Homer C. Underwood are appearing for the medical board.

Marvin's Troubles Multiply. William Marvin was served at the county jail today with a warrant charging him with carrying concealed weapons. He was sued not long ago by his wife for a divorce and she afterward had him arrested on surety of the peace proceedings for which he is now in prison because he can not give the bond. When he was arrested he had a loaded revolver in one of his pockets and Deputy Sheriff Sam Hartel filed an affidavit against him.

Court Notes. The superior court opened for the November term this morning with a big docket.

This is vacation week in the circuit court and there will be nothing doing until next Monday.

Returned to Lick Her. Arlie M. Smith was granted a divorce from James Smith in the superior court today after having told that the last time she saw her husband was on Christmas eve, 1903, when he met her at her mother's home to give her a licking, which he proceeded to do in excellent style. This was the second one, the first having been administered when they separated in November, 1902, when he gave her such a severe punishment that she was in bed from the effects for three weeks. They were married Oct. 3, 1894.

Tricked by Dyspepsia

THE DOCTOR COULDN'T TELL
WHERE THE TROUBLE LAY.

"For the past seven years I have been a victim of dyspepsia and chronic constipation and have consulted the most noted specialists to be found on diseases of this character. None, however, seemed to locate the difficulty or give relief. In addition to this medical treatment, I have resorted to the use of many remedies and have given them faithful trial, but all to no purpose.

"Upon the recommendation of a close friend, I purchased a 50c package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and in less than five days noticed that I was receiving more benefit than from any remedy I had used before. I continued to use the tablets after each meal for one month and by that time my stomach was in a healthy condition, capable of digesting anything which my increasing appetite demanded.

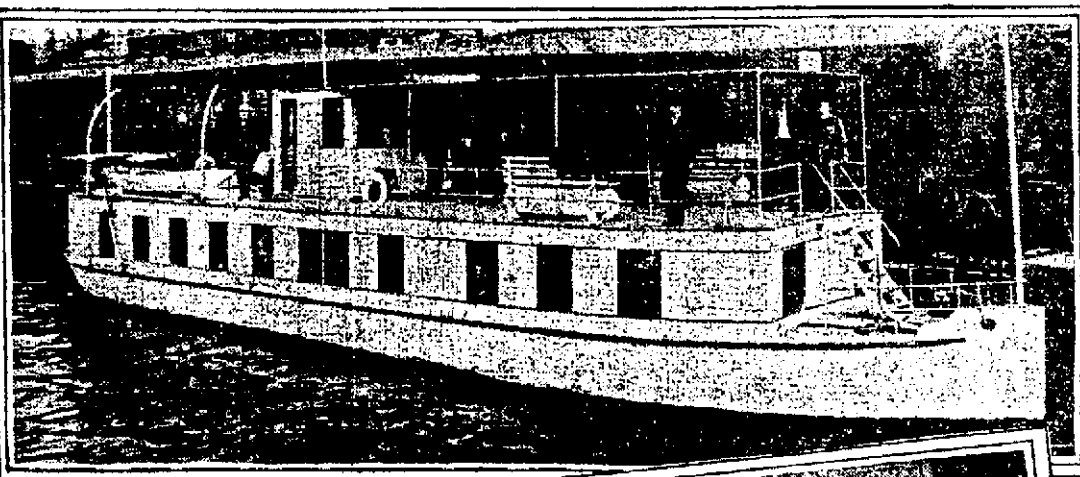

"I have not experienced any return of my former trouble, though three months have elapsed since taking your remedy."

We wish that you could see with your own eyes the countless other bona-fide signed letters from grateful men and women all over the land who had suffered years of agony with dyspepsia, tried every known remedy and consulted eminent specialists without result, until they gave Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial. Like the doctor above, they couldn't locate the seat of the trouble.

Dyspepsia is a disease which has long baffled physicians. So difficult of location is the disease that cure seems next to miraculous. There is only one way to treat dyspepsia—to supply the elements which nature has ordained to perform this function and to cause them to enter the digestive organs, supplying the fluids which they lack. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets alone fill these requirements, as is shown by the fact that 10,000 physicians in the United States and Canada unite in recommending them to their patients for stomach disorders.

We do not claim or expect Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to cure anything but disordered conditions of the stomach and intestines, stimulate the gastric glands and aid in the secretion of juices necessary to digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. One box will frequently effect a perfect cure. If in doubt and wish more adequate proof send us your name and address and we will gladly mail you a sample package free. F. A. Stuart Co., 61 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

YACHT IN WILH COMPANY OF ACTORS WILL MAKE TOUR IN SOUTH

THE LAGONDA

New York, Nov. 12.—Anyway, as one of them expressed it yesterday, the actor folk abroad the good ship Lagonda, which will clear for southern ports tomorrow, there to afford the natives the delights of the theater, will not have to worry about walking back to Broadway—all they'll have to fear will be swimming.

Everybody has heard of the actors whose companies travel in "special trains." It remained for Chelso Peruch, an American despite his name, to take his troupe about in a private yacht, for the Lagonda is a well appointed single screw vessel, with the accommodations for fifteen persons, calculated to satisfy the most fastidious, let alone actors to whom "the road" usually means discomfort, if not hardship.

Peruch, announced by his posters to be "a strong favorite in the southland," is not without theatrical experience. In fact, it is by reason of his wide knowledge of the business that he has devised this method, the success of which he says is assured.

With his wife, who rejoices in the stage name of Gypzene, he has headed companies that have confined their artistic efforts to territory outside of Broadway, and in spite of this has achieved financial success in common with others whose reputations have never penetrated the fastness of "little old New York." For ten years he has maintained a summer theater in Knoxville, Tenn., and he has been the Herr Director in similar enterprises at Chattanooga, Tenn., Augusta, Ga., and Columbia, S. C. In addition, he has sent out road companies, one of which he intended to lead until the theatrical cruise took form.

Peruch bought the Lagonda in Sandusky, Ohio, and brought her here under her own power through Lake Erie to Buffalo, then through the Erie canal into the Hudson and down to West Forty-fifth street, where she lies.

Captain Quinn, of Florida, commands the vessel, which is about 80 feet long with a 17-foot beam. The Peruch-Gypzene company will strike the Delaware-Raritan canal at Amboy and work down the Delaware river to the Delaware-Chesapeake canal into the Chesapeake bay to Norfolk, Va. There the vessel will go through the Dismal Swamp canal, avoiding the passage off Hatteras, and emerge at Cape Lookout to take the outside route to Jacksonville.

Washington, N. C., will see the premiere. The cruise will be continued along the coast and to the Bahamas, and it will last well into April. A repertoire of seven pieces is provided, and everything needed for the performances, including the actors, will be carried aboard the yacht, except an advance agent, Maurice Brown Kirby, who will go ahead by rail.

Mrs. Ritchie, mother of Gypzene, will act as chief stewardess when not playing "character old woman" roles. Richard Phelps will do "juveniles" and be the mate aloft. The boat is to be the home of the company no matter how long the stay in a town may be.

respected. They had kept company five years.

Boston Weston, the Huntington cabman who was recently granted a new trial on the charge of killing R. J. Hothouse, of Decatur, has been released under bond of $500 for his appearance for trial. It is said he is not likely to be tried a second time so long as his behavior is good.

GIRL DONS DAD'S TOGS.

Big Burglar Scare Is the Result in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—Miss Gertrude Thornberry celebrated her nineteenth birthday anniversary Saturday night and invited several girl friends to her home for a "stag" dance and stipulated that her friends must come attired in men's apparel. When the girls assembled there was great diversity of costumes, ranging from the short, business coat to the conventional swallow tail with the accompanying silk hat.

The dance was in progress when one of the parents discovered that his Sunday suit was missing. About the same time a neighbor missed his dress suit, and close on the heels of this another neighbor reported that his new suit, just received from a tailor, had been stolen. It was clear that a wholesale raid had been made in the neighborhood, and, after notifying the police, some of the parents went over to the house of mirth to see if, possibly, their daughters knew anything of the missing garments.

There the facts became known and the "stag party" was allowed to go on uninterrupted.

AN AGED PHYSICIAN

After Years of Experience Gives the Following Advice.

"If you have anything to do with medicines at all be pretty sure you know what you are taking."

This is a strong point in favor of the valuable cod liver preparation, Vinol. Everything it contains is plainly printed on the label, therefore it is not a patent medicine.

Vinol contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cod's livers, but with the useless, nauseating oil eliminated and tonic from which is a needed constituent for the blood, added.

This is the reason that Vinol accomplishes such wonderful results in curing chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung troubles, and there is nothing known to medicine that will so quickly build up the run down, overworked, tired and debilitated, or give strength and renewed vitality to the aged, as Vinol.

Every person in Fort Wayne who needs such a medicine should try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it fails. Meyer Bros. Co., Druggists, Two Big Stores.

Note.—While we are sole agents for Vinol in Fort Wayne, it is now for sale at the leading drug store in nearly every town and city in the country. Look for the Vinol agency in your town.

CASE IS DISMISSED.

Principal Witness Falls to Show Up in City Court.

John Koch failed to show up in the city court this morning to prosecute James Welch for taking his horse and the case was dismissed. The two men traded horses and Welch made the claim that the animal he got did not come up to representations and when he saw Fernwood Lemaster driving the horse he had formerly owned he took it away from him. He was arrested and after waiting half an hour for Koch this morning the case was stricken from the docket.

SCARCITY OF LABOR.

Trade is hampered and curtailed, according to trade agencies, by physical inability to cope with the great demand. Labor scarcity of cars and traffic delays are the curtailing features. In their review for last week Dun & Co. present the situation strikingly as follows:

"Business experienced the customary interruption during election week, but a more permanent retarding influence was the inadequate supply of freight cars and labor. Many industries are severely handicapped by traffic delays, raw materials and fuel coming to the factories in a most unsatisfactory manner. In other cases there is idle machinery, because hands cannot be secured, despite the high wages offered. This difficulty threatens to reduce the lumber cut materially. Several strikes are threatened, and one railway system alone has advanced wages to the extent of $1,000,000 monthly. Retail trade is well maintained by lower temperatures in some sections of the country and the full employment of labor at all points, while wholesale business in holiday goods is very heavy."

In all great industrial centers the scarcity of labor is reported as seriously affecting conditions and there does not appear to be any remedy. But the curtailment of prosperity that comes from too great a demand for labor is nothing at which to take fright. Big business must content itself with what it can make with the means it has.

A number of foreign insurance companies are repudiating their San Francisco losses and attorneys from the coast are now in Washington to lay before the state department the facts of this stupendous case of "welching." They seek aid to obtain the payment of claims by their clients, amounting to $14,000,000. The attorneys told Secretary Root that fire losses caused by the earthquake and the subsequent conflagration had been settled by insurance companies all over the world with the exception of three in Germany and one in Austria. These, they said, refused to pay any part of the claims against them, and the attorneys will go to Germany and Austria to see whether they can be made to pay. The lawyers were assured of the sympathy of the department, but were told it was impossible for the government at present to do more than give them credentials.

This much is true beyond all possibility of dispute: The mayor can have any kind of police administration in Fort Wayne that he wants. The police force, under the law, is as absolutely his to direct as though the whole outfit were privately in his employ. In police affairs the charter makes him dictator. If the police administration is bad it is because the mayor's power is neither wisely nor creditably used. The board of public safety is a triumvirate of figureheads. The directing power in the police department is the mayor. The board of safety is wholly subservient to his policies and obedience is implicit.

No loyal democrat will be disposed to complain that Dr. J. W. Morr was in the least wanting in diligence or enthusiasm in his campaign for congress, but as a closer inspection of the returns causes the Gilhams majority to narrow away almost to the vanishing point one cannot help thinking that if the democratic nominee had strained himself just the least bit more the result might have been in all practical aspects wholly satisfactory.

New York republicans after feeding fat for a dozen years seem to have come on to such condition as makes them not to know when they have enough. Governorship doesn't satisfy and contest for more offices filled by democrats at the last voting are to be fought for. For just this once the concerns of the people are not to suffer by division of the spoils.

James J. Hill's Canadian reciprocity propaganda is all right and deserves victory, but the worry the stand-patters will give him is likely to make the Great Northern-Northwestern Pacific merger appear like a Christmas frolic in comparison with his war for breach in the tariff wall.

In a newspaper interview the mayor is quoted as saying he promised to give the people of Fort Wayne a clean moral city. That's what he did and after more than ten months in office he has failed to arrive. But we have hope. The mayor says he is coming.

Hetty Green predicts a war between the people and the trusts and seer-like peers with prophetic vision into the future and sees streets running with the blood spilled in revolution. All of which we think fully justifies inference that Hetty is no trust.

It may be after all that the brand of reform laded out to the people of Pennsylvania didn't look much better than the kind of thing they were used to. At all events, the Weaver kind in Philadelphia had a canned goods odor.

The president has gone down to Panama to see the dirt fly. Honest, now, does he really expect anybody is going to work while he is along the pike?

The kind of football reform that will reduce the casualty list is the kind that has been adopted by those colleges that don't have it any longer.

DIVIDES RICHES

ON HER BIRTHDAY

A WOMAN WHO GETS FORTUNE SHARES WITH CHILDREN.

Finds Joy in Gifts to the Living and Will Have Some More Celebrations.

New York, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Charles F. Kalgebehn, of Hoboken, found a new way of celebrating her birthday, and tried it yesterday for the first time when she was 69 years old. Now she is looking forward to spending several more birthdays in the same way.

Mrs. Kalgebehn's celebration consisted in gathering her children and presenting them $10,000 apiece. As the children are four, and there is $300,000 to divide, and Mrs. Kalgebehn's health is as good as it was twenty years ago, there are many more such celebrations in sight.

Years back when Mrs. Kalgebehn was still Miss Kusel, an older brother, Philip, left Hoboken, went to Chicago, and engaged in the wholesale grocery trade. He flourished. Last June the sister got word that Philip, a bachelor and wholesale grocer, was dead, and he had left to his sister in Hoboken his savings, amounting to $300,000.

His sister was married, and with her husband tended a little cafe within hail of the wharves, and helped him turn it gradually into a wholesale liquor business.

Retired in Favor of Boys. Only a couple of years ago the couple retired. Retiring with them meant moving out from over the store into a second floor apartment on the corner just opposite, where the elder Kalgebehn could sit at a window over the morning paper and keep a heedful eye on the store, leaving the eldest son in charge. Ferdinand, Alfred and Otto, he admitted, could care for the store well enough.

When Mrs. Kalgebehn was told of the $300,000 inheritance, and it even began to come in piecemeal in checks and papers as the estate was put in order, there began long conferences between the wife and husband. He counseled that the money be put into certain lists of property on which he often had cast an eye as he strolled around town. But she was set firmly on an idea of her own.

"With what is ours, Charles, you decide," she said. "With mine, I want to do after my own ideas."

Spend Money, But Not Foolishly. The family gathering was yesterday. Three boys were at the house. The other child, Mrs. Thunelda Camm, of Chicago, was absent. The idea of her coming had been suggested by the boys, but their mother had scorned it as foolishness. What! A thousand miles to come just for a day? Who would mind Thunelda's children and husband while she was from home? And the expense was great. Just because they had money to spend it was no reason to do such foolishness with it.

So there were only three boys at home. It was Sunday, anyway, so the boys naturally wore their Sunday clothes. When the checks had been given out to the boys the mother said: "Well, boys, be careful with that. Don't you go and give it away now; that is for young people to enjoy, not to throw away."

"Yes, don't do anything foolish, boys; then you get the remainder of the money after us," enjoined the father.

The Patterson store sells Boys' Waterproof knee pant suits at $5.00.

The swell shirts are found at Patterson's.

STATE CORN SHOW.

Jan. 14-19, 1907, Purdue University—Large Premiums Donated.

The second annual corn show will be held by the Indiana Corn Growers' association January 14-19, 1907, in connection with the corn school at Purdue university. This show being held in connection with the corn school is of great educational value. At no place in the state will there be brought together more representative samples of corn than at Purdue.

The state will be divided into five sections as was done last year. Premiums will be offered for the different classes of corn in each section. In this way every farmer in the state has a fair chance—competition being limited to exhibitors from his section. Exhibitors from the north central and southern parts of the state will come into competition only in the sweepstakes classes.

Large premiums, as corn planters, walking plows, and fertilizers, have already been donated. A large amount of cash has also been contributed to the premium fund.

It is hoped that the premiums offered will be sufficient in number and size to encourage the best efforts of every farmer in selecting and exhibiting a sample of corn.

All interested in the corn show should apply to G. I. Christian, secretary, Lafayette, Ind., for circulars.

VAUDEVILLE TURN IN CHURCH.

New York Pastor Has Services Enlivened by a Woman Whistler.

New York, Nov. 12.—Vaudeville turns, as an adjunct to religious service, have been introduced by Rev. Dr. Frank M. Goodchild, pastor of the Central Baptist church in West Forty-second street, and last night the congregation listened with feelings of mingled interest and surprise while a woman whistler wailed three tunes in the intervals between the readings of the word and the sermon.

Dr. Goodchild believes in the efficacy of advertising, and the last number of Gist, his church paper, announced it was the part of the trustees to do all that could be done to make the services of the church attractive.

"It has been decided," the announcement read, "to add to the musical program on Sunday evenings some bright musical attraction that may serve to enliven the exercises for our regular attendants and also to draw into our service those who might not come otherwise."

CHILDREN PERISH IN FLAMES.

Early Morning Fire at Otwell, Ind., Has Tragic Results.

Jasper, Ind., Nov. 12.—Two children of Albert Potts were burned to death at Otwell this morning. The house burned to the ground and efforts to save the children were vain.

The children were aged 3 and 5 years. The mother was doing the morning milking when fire broke out in the house. Her husband, who is an invalid, saved two of the four children.

BIG FIRE IN MOBILE.

Extensive Hardwood Sawmill Plant Is Destroyed.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 12.—Fire which started at midnight last night and was finally extinguished at 4 o'clock this morning destroyed the big sawmill plant of Hieronymus Brothers on the river front and sparks from which ignited the plant of the Mobile Hardwood company, several blocks away, caused a loss of about $60,000 with only small insurance. The entire river front south of Madison street was in danger of destruction at one time on account of a high north wind that was blowing at the time, but the firemen by hard work stopped the blaze. A large amount of fine hardwood timber recently purchased by T. Lewis Thompson, of Philadelphia, Pa., was lost in the flames. Several large sea-going vessels were in danger at one time, but were saved by tug boats coming to their assistance.

OUTFIT IS RETURNED.

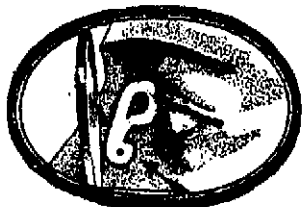

The horse and buggy taken from the barn of Frank Newhaus at Wallen Friday night was returned on Saturday and was not damaged. The outfit had been reported to the authorities as having been stolen.

PANIC IN EVANSVILLE THEATER.

Picture Machine Ignites and in Mad Rush Two Persons Were Hurt.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 12.—Two persons were seriously injured and a number of women and children bruised and otherwise hurt in a panic caused by an incipient blaze from a moving picture machine at the Franklin street theater Saturday night.

A hot carbon dropped into a basket of celluloid films. The flames sprang to the ceiling and the curtains caught fire. Almost instantly the audience became unmanageable and a mad rush for the exits was made.

The firemen and police by hard work quieted the excited audience, which was making frantic efforts to reach the street. Practically every seat in the theater was demolished during the rush.

The most severely injured was Miss Susan Defrost. Vernon Gammel, the operator of the moving picture machine, was badly burned and taken to a hospital.

The fire was quickly extinguished. The damage from the fire was small.

WILL DIG UP HERCULEANUM.

English Professor Arranges for Excavation of Ancient City.
Rome, Nov. 12.—Charles Waldstein, professor of fine arts in Kings college, Cambridge, England, will arrive here shortly for the purpose of perfecting an agreement with the Italian government concerning the carrying out of his project for the excavation of the ancient city of Herculeanum. The professor's plans to this end have been accepted by the Italian government on the condition that the participation of foreign countries in the work be only under the form of private contributions and that there be no foreign official interference.

Professor Waldstein has secured the active co-operation of King Victor Emmanuel as president of his organization as well as Emperor William, King Edward and President Roosevelt. The excavation of Herculeanum will be a gigantic enterprise. The work of digging up the ancient city was begun by King Charles III in 1738 and it was continued under the direction of the Italian government in 1888. This excavation has always been attended with the greatest difficulty, as over the ruins of the ancient city there stands today the town of Resina, with 20,000 inhabitants. The location of Resina has often made it necessary to abandon the research work.

WOMAN'S VICTIM DIES MUM.

He Refuses to Tell Who Stabbed Him or How It Was Done.

Seranton, Pa., Nov. 12.—Thomas Dougherty, a prominent young man of Dunmore, a suburb of Seranton, died in the state hospital yesterday as the result of being stabbed by an unknown woman Saturday night. Dougherty refused to make any ante-mortem statement as to the name of the person, but admitted it was a woman and that he was to blame.

Dougherty said that he was visiting a woman, and that she stuck a needle or a hatpin in him, after which he was taken ill.

No one could give any information as to where Dougherty had spent the evening, and he absolutely refused to give the physicians any details as to the manner in which he sustained injury.

An autopsy revealed that he had been stabbed with some fine instrument, and that it had entered his heart.

The police are unable to discover any trace of Dougherty's whereabouts previous to the time that a doctor was summoned.

ELOPEMENT TURNS

UP BIG ROMANCE

INDIANA GIRL WENT AWAY WITH HER COACHMAN.

Belief is That He is Foreign Gentleman of Aristocratic Family She Met While Abroad.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Emma Beachman Howe, who eloped with Gustave Christianson, her coachman, and for whose return unmarried a reward of $500 was offered, was found in Hobart, Ind., early yesterday and returned to the home of her foster mother, Miss Frances Howe, at Porter, Ind., yesterday afternoon.

Christianson followed the girl to her home and made several attempts to elude the vigilance of her relatives and carry her away again.

Miss Howe's elopement, in which a twenty mile buggy chase figured, was the last chapter in a story of romantic courtship. Miss Frances Howe and friends of her ward are convinced that the young coachman with whom she eloped is a Danish student of aristocratic connection the girl met while studying at the University of Christiana four years ago. It is believed that Christianson followed her to America to press his suit and worked as a coachman to earn the girl and keep his identity concealed.

Engaged to Belgian Officer Once.

Miss Howe traveled and studied extensively in Europe under her foster mother's care, and she went to Norway in May, 1902, soon after the announcement of her engagement to a Belgian military officer named Albert Graaf had been given out. The elder Miss Howe remained in Brussels while her ward spent three months at Christiana studying. In her letters to her foster mother she spoke often of a handsome and gallant Danish student who took her to the musicals. Almost immediately after her return to Brussels her engagement with Graaf was broken. No explanation was given, and the girl and her foster mother returned the following fall to America.

Suitor Poses as Servant.

Letters came often from across the seas to the secluded country house among the sand dunes, where Miss Howe lived almost the life of an ascetic with her foster mother. The tall young Dane had told her that some time he would come for her when he had taken his degree. Two years ago the letters ceased to come.

Last spring Miss Howe engaged a new coachman. He had come straight from Denmark and could speak no English. Miss Emma had complained of her health and rarely went out, but during the summer she was constantly driven about by Gustave, the new coachman, sometimes in a trap and sometimes accompanied by him when she rode on horseback. She began to teach him to read and speak English, and a summer house was rebuilt for a study room.

Coachman Suits in Disguise.

Lessons were laboriously gone through under the tutelage of Miss Howe and her foster mother, and Gustave showed himself an apt pupil. One day the elder Miss Howe entered the summer house and saw him writing letters. "I thought you couldn't write at all," she said.

"O, I write some in my own language and in Norwegian," he replied.

Another day Miss Howe entered the room and found him poring over a volume of Wimpel Bond's Philosophy translated into Norwegian. Miss Frances Howe is the last surviving member of a pioneer Indiana family and has been associated in business and social affairs with well known Chicagoans.

Girl Captured in Time.

When the elopement with Miss Howe's horse and buggy they were taken to Hobart, Ind., and it was there that Marshal Fred Rose of that town found them. Christianson had engaged a room for Miss Howe at the Hobart hotel and had gone back to the livery stable to sleep.

The young woman was spirited away early in the morning by Rose and another policeman and taken to the home. Christianson appeared at the citadel to carry away his princess, but the gates were closed and the drawbridge was up. Neighboring swains with the aid of the Porter constabulary restrained him, but he kept a lonely vigil during the night and says it is only a question of time when he will take her away.

Miss Howe is highly educated and accomplished and has studied music and art under several of the best masters of Europe and America.

Girl Drugged, Mother Says.

"I am sure this man is not the stupid, heavy boor that he pretends to be," said her foster mother. Miss Frances Howe last night. "I did not know of the Christianson affair until now, but it seems about the only explanation of my daughter's attachment for the man. The only other explanation I can think of is that she has been drugged. There is every indication that such was the case."

Dr. C. O. Whitford, who attended the young woman Saturday night, said that there were indications of her having been drugged, but that he could determine nothing definitely.

"I am sure that Christianson is something more than a coachman," said Postmaster John H. Busse, of Porter. "He has shown every possible mark of breeding that a man could show, and he is no ordinary coachman."

Dues for two memberships will be fifty and twenty-five cents respectively. An evening meeting will be held soon to give others interested an opportunity to attend.

FASHION NOTES.

Suede belts in golden brown, forest green, a light tan and heliotrope are new, and will be effective worn with shirt waists and dark skirts, for the dull kid shows to advantage against the white or light colored waists, while a gilt or silver buckle gives a desirable touch of brightness to the girdle.

Fluffy neck pieces for the neck will continue to be favorites for fall wear and for use during the colder weather. Made of sheer chiffon, as they are, these ruffs will become the majority of women regardless of the style of features or fashion of dressing the hair. They are made of a series of ruffled or pleated lengths of silk chiffon, with a tiny edging of velvet ribbon in golden brown, black, green or any shade that forms a contrast to the sheer material. In addition to this edging, minute velvet bows or rosettes are carelessly sewed among the ruffles at distances of five or six inches. These ornaments give a touch of color that makes the ruffs distinctive and unlike the ones worn in previous years.

Scarfs will also be much affected this year, and those of silk chiffon with Persian borders. In the vivid combinations of purple, red, blue and green, will be smart for use with reception and evening gowns as well as for wear under heavy street coats and with furs. Though sheer, these scarfs are quite warm when wrapped several times around the neck, and because of their lightness, become most women.

ROYAL TEETOTALERS.

The practice of abstaining altogether from alcohol has widely permeated the highest circles of society. Queen Victoria of Spain does not know the taste of alcohol. Her special "tipple" is made from oranges—the fresh fruit squeezed into a glass, which is filled up with aerated waters. Oranges are her favorite fruit, and at Cowshe she was accustomed to eat them freely. For years Princess Henry of Battenberg was a teetotaler, and of late she has suffered so much from rheumatism that she has been ordered a little whisky, which she regards as a penance.

Both Princess Christian's daughters, too, are teetotalers. The Princess of Wales, who is an exceedingly considerate mistress, once dismissed an undermaiden on the spot, because, contrary to instructions, she had given Prince Edward, when he was five, a sip of the wine allowed her for lunch. All the children of the prince and princess are being brought up strict teetotalers, and save for the one taste of wine Prince Edward had from his nurse, they know nothing of alcohol. Princess Patricia of Connaught and her married sister also abjure wine, says Home Chat. Another royal teetotaler is the Duchess of Argyll, and the two young daughters of the Princess Royal, their highnesses Alexandra and Maria, have never in their lives touched wine.

IT'S THE FOOD

The True Way to Correct Nervous Troubles.
Nervous troubles are more often caused by improper food and indigestion than most people imagine. Even doctors sometimes overlook this fact. A man says:
"Until two years ago waffles and butter with meat and gravy were the main features of my breakfast. Finally dyspepsia came on and I found myself in a bad condition, worse in the morning than any other time. I would have a full, sick feeling in my stomach, with pains in my heart, sides and head.
"At times I would have no appetite for days, then I would feel ravenous, never satisfied when I did eat and so nervous I felt like shrieking at the top of my voice. I lost flesh badly and hardly knew which way to turn until one day I bought a box of Grape-Nuts Food to see if I could eat that. And I did it! No, made me feel as if I had something to eat that was satisfying and still I didn't have that heaviness that I had felt after eating any other food.
"I hadn't drank any coffee then in five weeks. I kept on with the Grape-Nuts and in a month and a half I had gained 15 pounds, could eat almost anything I wanted, didn't feel badly after eating and my nervousness was all gone. It's a pleasure to be well again."

Artistic Candle Shades Simple of Construction

Silk, Cretonne or Any Dainty Material Utilized in Making.

EXPENSE IS TRIFLING

An Important Addition to the Decoration of the Thanksgiving Table.

Making artistic and even original candle shades is no longer a difficult task for women inexperienced in needle work, for frames in many pretty shapes may be bought and braid fringes purchased ready for use, so that the shaping of materials and making is really quite simple. Then, too, if a housekeeper makes them at home she can frequently change the material, substituting cretonne for silk at a trifling expense, and in this way can save room decorations from becoming monotonous. For instance, on a gala occasion, such as Halloween or Thanksgiving, the candle shades may be made of some appropriate design in silk or paper that conforms with the festive day and fits in harmoniously with the surroundings.

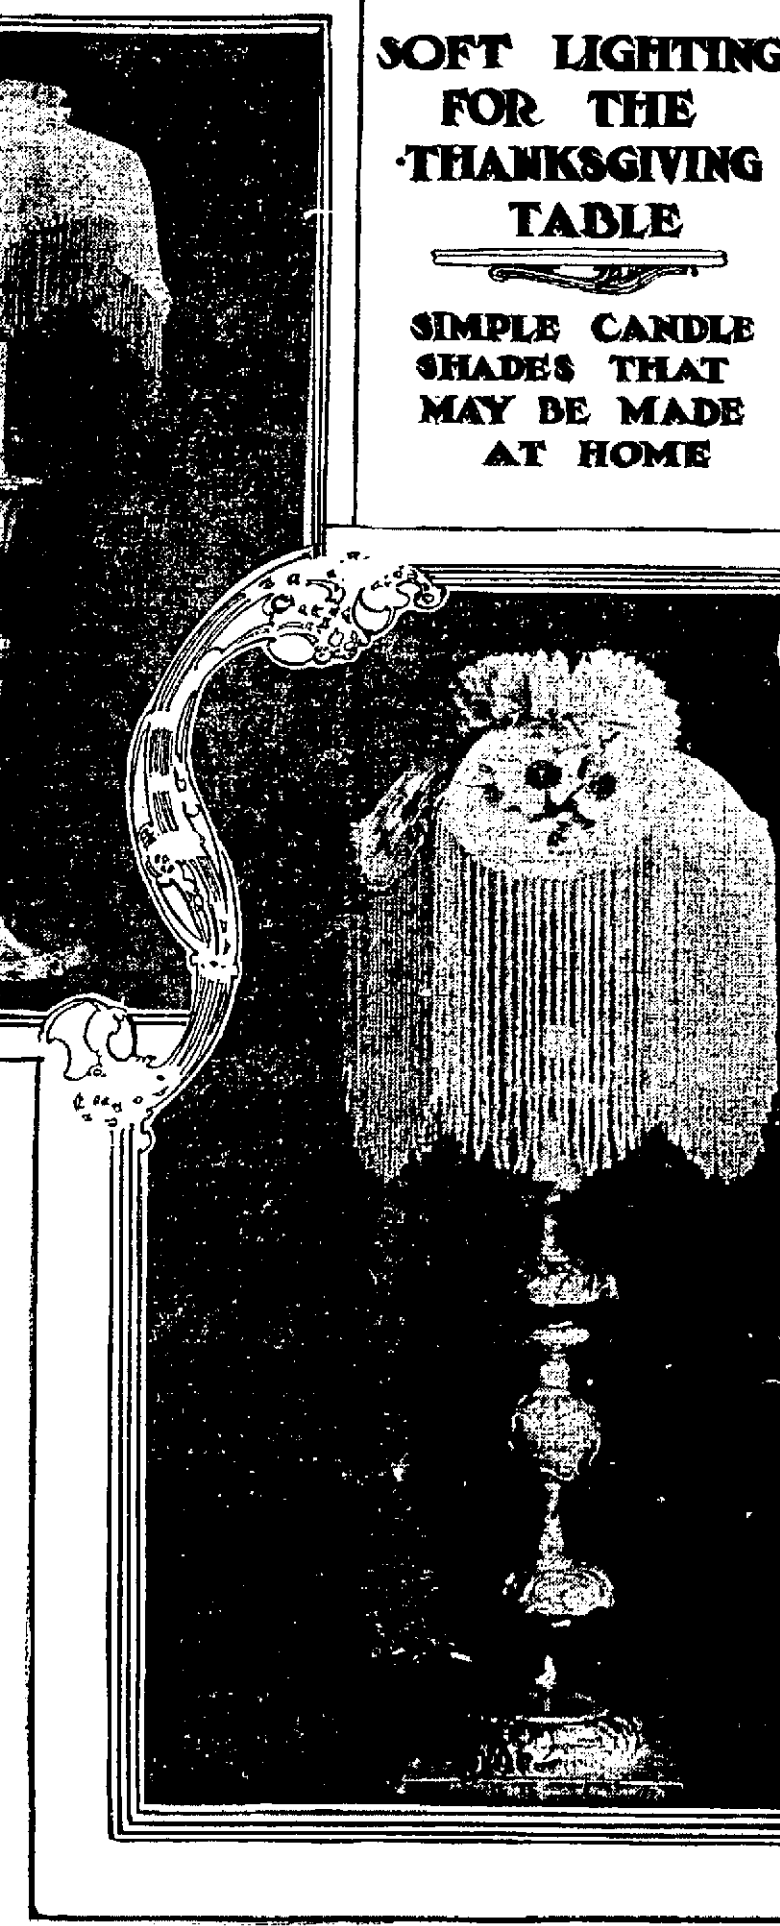

The frames may be purchased for from fifteen cents up, according to size, while the beading attached to a hoop that is ready to be sewed in place costs from forty-nine cents up, the price depending upon the length of the strands, and also upon the dimensions of the hoop from which they hang. With these two necessary essentials and a yard and a half of silk, or chiffon, the most elaborate kind of a shade can be fashioned.

Shawllike Shades New.

The smartest shades imported from France are shawllike in effect, and instead of the material being fitted to every rod in the frame, a circular piece of the material, with the center cut out for the chimney, is made to fit the dome shaped wires. It then falls in graceful folds, the weight of the fringe holding it down in place. The shawl effects in soft pinks, light blues, deep reds or vivid orange shades of silk are stunning for use on a dining room table or in a parlor or hall. The drapery, to give variety, may be cut in square or with deep points, four or five, according to the size of the frames, or in narrow scallops that give breadth to the shade. A glimpse is being much used this year, a narrow piece of it in gilt or silver at the bottom makes a pretty finish to cover the heading of the fringe. For these shades narrow beaded fringe can be bought by the yard instead of on hoop.

Some Are Hand Decorated.

Some of these shades are decorated with hand painted designs copied after Louis XIV., XV. and XVI. designs, while others are ornamented with hand made ribbon flowers, such as smoke, though any shade that matches the hat is appropriate."

TESTED SEEDS OF SUCCESS.

Don't fall into the habit of thinking that the world owes you a living. The world owes you just exactly what you are willing to work for. We are all in the race, men and women, to get the most we can out of life. Some of us succeed, some of us fail by the wayside, but as a rule the one who tries hard comes out well to the fore. If you want to rise in your business you must be willing to do your share, and sometimes a little more than your share, of work, and do it well. The way to bring yourself under your employer's notice is by always being interested in your work. Don't be standstill and taciturn. A pleasant word costs nothing and makes many a friend.—Home Chat.

Do not think of your faults; still less of others' faults; in every person who comes near you look for what is good and strong; honor that, rejoice in it; and as you can try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when their time comes.—Home Notes.

Lace Hat Veils Luxuries Now Because of Demand

Shortage Occurs Principally in Brown Tones—Range in Price from $1 Up to $25—London Smoke the Popular Shade.

Lace hat veils are luxuries just now because they are scarce, and the woman fortunate enough to secure one of these in the favored seal brown, London smoke or black, feels that she has something the average woman is without, because the supply is small in comparison to the enormous demand for the French lace variety in the smart shades. Though the fall and winter importations of these hat accessories have only recently been opened, there were so many more orders than veils to be sold that, according to the buyer of veils in the shops, none were left in their establishments three weeks after they were put on sale. And now these veils that have grown into such favor are being imported from abroad as fast as possible, but long before an order arrives every veil has been spoken for and is usually called for several times before it reaches here.

"It's interesting to watch the women line up on a day the veils are expected," said a prominent buyer, "for while the majority of the veils are of the same price and quality, every woman wants to have the pick of the lot and does not want to be obliged to take what others have looked over, tried on and left on the counter. Then, too, while the body of these veillings are practically the same, the borders, copies of the hand-made Chantilly lace ones, are varied, and naturally each purchaser wants to get the most becoming and attractive of these, which explains another reason for a rush to get the first choice.

Veils Purchased by the Dozen.
"They understand, too, that while they have ordered a London smoke, or perhaps a brown, if there is a shortage. I imagine I will not be over-estimating the situation, for this variety of becoming headgear has become so popular that enough cannot be secured to supply the demand.
"Many women are not content with purchasing one or two, but knowing how difficult it is to get the three colors now so fashionable, want to buy half a dozen at a time, but with the limited importations, this wholesale buying is not permitted, and only one, or at the most two, are sold to the same individual, and these only when ordered.

"Unable to get lace veils, many content themselves with chiffons in the same colors, and as a result they, too, are becoming scarce, and a shortage in them is expected before the winter sets in.
"The extra long veils are not being worn much this season, for the demand is for veils that are a yard and a half or two yards in length and from eighteen to twenty inches wide.

Point De Spirit Smart.

"In the lace hat veils fine net mesh with a ring dot, with either narrow or wide borders or those of Chantilly lace, are effective, though some prefer the fine mesh with tiny chenille dots and a border of lace woven into the net. Then, too, round velvet dots are used for veils finished with lace borders. Most of these borders are floral, and copies of roses, lilies of the valley and conventionalized flowers, and all have scalloped edges.
"Effective, if not as much in demand as the lace veillings, are those of point de spirit with an accordion pleated chiffon ruffle around the edge. The ruffle is not more than an inch in width and is attached to the body of the veil by hemstitching. On some of these veils there are two ruffles, the one that finishes the edge and another about the same width that is set up not more than an inch and a half from the top of the lower pleating.

"The chiffon veils in yard and a half and two yard lengths or in one and a quarter square yards are quite elaborately decorated with embroidered floral borders, with separate leaves or flowers in the body, and some of them have wide hemstitched borders that are of a strongly contrasting color that makes this veiling not only unusual but effective on certain styles of hats and worn by decided blondes or brunettes.
"There are silk mousseline veils that are especially desirable for wear on windy days, because the material is sheer and can be readily seen through, and at the same time the weave is strong enough to keep out particles of dust and dirt that are annoying when motoring, or even when walking. Most of these have hemstitched borders or are finished with pinpoints edged with ribbon.
"Veillings vary in price from $1.25 upward, and real Chantilly lace ones can rarely be bought for less than $20 or $25.
"The face veils are of fine net with chenille or velvet dots that are generally quite close together. The popular shades in these veillings are wine, even red, green brown and London

S.S.S. CURES CATARRH

Catarrh cannot be washed away with sprays, inhalations and such treatment, nor can it be smoked out with medicated tobacco, cigarettes, etc. When you attempt to cure Catarrh with such things you are wasting time and allowing the impurities and poisons in the blood, which produce the disease, to get so firmly rooted as to become not only a disgusting trouble, but a very dangerous one. The annoying symptoms of ringing noises in the ears, "hawking and spitting," headaches, mucus dropping back into the throat, impairment to the senses of taste and smell, and a feeling of general debility, prove that there is a deep-seated cause for Catarrh. This cause is a polluted and unhealthy condition of the blood, and the disease cannot be cured until this is removed. The only way to get rid of Catarrh permanently is to purify the blood, and S. S. S. is the ideal remedy for this purpose. It soon clears the system of all impurities, purges the blood of all catarrhal matter and poisons, and effectually checks the progress of this disgusting and far-reaching disease. S. S. S. puts the blood in perfect order, and as this pure, healthy blood goes to every nook and corner of the body Catarrh is permanently cured. It is Not Automatic

No, the Pianola Piano does not play itself—it is not automatic. It is not to be confused with machines that wind up, giving each time a repetition of a performance identically the same. You are the one who does the playing and a large part of the enjoyment comes from putting your own personality into the rendition, seeing how much expression you can give, how many different ways you can play a given composition and which is the best way.

Pianola Piano Prices $550, up

All makes of pianos in exchange at a fair valuation. A small payment down places the instrument in your possession at once.

Bluffton Man Cured of ECZEMA

By a Fort Wayne Physician

J. W. Smith, a citizen well known in both Bluffton and Fort Wayne, makes a public statement for the benefit of the public.

"For many years I suffered with eczema of the hands. I was treated by over twenty-five physicians, among whom were some of the noted skin specialists of the country, but none of them were able to cure me. I studied all the books and medical literature on the subject of eczema and tried all the remedies I ever heard of, but was unable to cure myself. I finally heard of the success of Dr. Wells in curing skin diseases and I went to him for treatment. He cured me in a short time and though a year and a half has elapsed, there has been no return of the disease. I make this public statement as a tribute to his skill and I advise others suffering from skin disease to consult him.

"J. W. SMITH, Bluffton, Ind."

This is a fair sample of many more such testimonials I can produce. I cure more bad cases of skin disease than all the other specialists in Fort Wayne. If you have any doubts about it, consult the patients you meet in my reception room.

If you have any skin or blood disease that you have been unable to have cured, I would be pleased to see you.

In League No. 1.

At the close of the games in the three Brunswick leagues last week the Pioneers and Nationals hooked up for the Interleague League No. 1 with the Bottom Five in an improved position and within striking distance of the top of the column.

The Athletics had a bad week, finished in a tie for fourth position with the Monarchs. The Garlands have taken a tight hold on the tail end of the per centage and have lost all of the fifteen games played.

Captain John Kelly, of the Pioneers, made an average of over 200 in the series played by his team last week and moved up to first place in the individual column with Krebs right on his heels and Shelly in third. Four members of the Pioneers have averages of 170 or better. There is little change among the other players.

FIRST OF ITS KIND IN INDIANA

New Salvation Army Citadel in Fort Wayne Which Was Dedicated Sunday

DEDICATED FIRST INDIANA CITADEL

FORT WAYNE EDIFICE CONSECRATED TO GOD SUNDAY.

Brigadier Cox Says It is First Indiana Building Erected by Salvation Army.

The first building to be erected in Indiana by the Salvation Army was dedicated yesterday afternoon when the local citadel on Washington boulevard east was consecrated to God with impressive ceremonies before an audience that filled all the available space in the ample auditorium.

Captain McKay, to whose untiring efforts the credit for building the home is due, presided over the meeting, and the principal dedicatory speech was delivered by Brigadier Blanche B. Cox, of Detroit, who has charge of the work in Michigan and Indiana. In the course of the exercises Staff Captain Yoder pleasingly rendered a solo and Mr. McKay and others sang. The opening prayer was given by Rev. Henry B. Master, of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. J. M. Canse, of the Simpson M. E. church, also made a few remarks.

Spoke of Army's Work.

In opening her address Miss Cox said that the Salvation Army had now entered upon a building era, as it might be called. "All over the country," she said, "we are erecting these citadels where the poor and the fallen are welcome to come at any hour of the day or night. In Boston we have recently dedicated a $264,000 institutional church, containing an auditorium, reading rooms, bathing pools, gymnasiums, free beds and everything that can add to the comfort of the needy. It is this principle on which we are erecting our homes: That the citadel should not alone be a place to worship God and save souls but a place to physically help the unfortunate.

"Our work is now taking on a more stable form than it has ever had before. When the citizens of a town see us erecting handsome citadels like this they know we mean business and that we are in the town to stay. We are no longer paying out money to landlords for the privilege of holding meetings in his hall. Now we are using that money to build our own halls and thus saving a considerable sum in rents."

At the conclusion of her address Brigadier Cox read Solomon's prayer at the dedication of his temple and prayed for the same things for the local citadel. During the course of her remarks she highly complimented Captain and Mrs. McKay over their efforts and the successful fruition of their labors.

Raised $140 During Day.

During the day the sum of $140 was raised toward the amount necessary to defray the expenses incurred during the erection of the home. The Third Presbyterian church contributed $14 of this amount, the Westminster church $18.08, the Baptist church $23.69 in cash and $21.25 in pledges, and the remainder of the sum was raised at the dedicatory exercises. The First Presbyterian church has not yet taken up a collection for the Army but has consented to do so. Captain McKay estimates that the total cost of the building will be about $4,100, of which $3,000 has been raised by a loan. The lot on which the citadel stands is all paid for.

Mme. Melba London's Favorite.

London, Nov. 12.—Society is very thankful for the enterprise of the Covent Garden management in providing an autumn opera season. Noteworthy as is the talent which has been secured, there is no gain-saying the fact that Melba is the prime favorite of all.

That is shown by the crowded state of the house and the brilliance of the audience when she is on. How the report that the state of her health will prevent her fulfilling her engagement in New York could have originated I cannot imagine, for all critics admit that she never sang with greater brilliance than she did Wednesday night in "Traviata."

LATEST IMPROVED COOKING UTENSILS

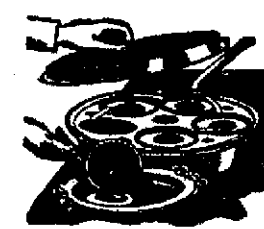

The most healthful and digestible way of cooking eggs is to poach them; but with the old method of dropping the eggs into boiling water they become ragged, water soaked and of uninviting appearance. With the

BUFFALO STEAM EGG POACHER

This difficulty is overcome. The steam cooking gives the eggs a new and delicious flavor. Each egg has its own little cup with handle, which makes it easy to transfer to toast or plate without breaking. The poacher cups may also be used as moulds for jelly or custard and by putting ice in the lower pan the cooling process may be hastened.

This is but one of many new kitchen specialties we are showing in the Housefurnishing Basement.

Woman, Storehouse of Loot. Caught at Small Theft.

JENNIE MILLER.

New York, Nov. 12.—Charged with stealing a pocketbook containing less than $5 from Mrs. Sarah Jenkinson, of Chichester avenue and Elm street, Richmond Hill, Jennie Miller, twenty-five years old, was held in $2,000 bail in the Adams street court in Brooklyn.

Following her capture in a Fulton street department store by Miss Susan Riordan, a detective, the woman was searched in the Adams street station. Besides six pocketbooks, which contained about $200 and two $1 notes on a Scotland bank, she had in a chambray bag concealed under her waist a varied assortment of jewelry valued at nearly $3,000.

More than a dozen women who had been robbed in Fulton street stores during the last week appeared in the court yesterday and looked over the property found on the prisoner. None was able to identify any of it except Mrs. Jenkinson, who claimed her pocketbook and Mrs. Janet Lamberton, of No. 198 Chestnut avenue, who had lost a pocketbook containing $65 in United States money and four $1 notes.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 12.—Firm cables and continued small receipts from the northwest caused a steady and slightly higher opening in the wheat market today. December opened 4c higher at 73c and then reacted to 72 1/2c. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 333 cars against 285 cars one year ago.

The close was easy with December 4 1/2c lower at 72 1/2c. General selling of the May option by commission houses and pit traders because of the bearish construction placed on the government crop report caused the corn market to be somewhat heavy. December opened 1/4c lower at 42c and 4 1/2c and sold at 41 3/4c. Local receipts were 533 cars.

The close was easy with December 1/4c lower at 42c. The oats market was steady but slightly lower in sympathy with corn. December opened unchanged to 1/4c higher at 34 1/4c to 34 1/2c and sold at 34 1/2c. The provision market was quiet on a decline in the price of live hogs. At the opening January pork was 10c lower at 11.05. Ribs were down 1/4c at 13.74. Lard was down 1/4c at 12.12.

G. R. & I. RAISES EMPLOYEES' WAGES

Notices to That Effect Issued from Headquarters
This Afternoon.

SHOP AND RAIL NEWS

Pennsylvania Company Presents
Operator Teeters With Watch
—Other News.

Notice of a 10 per cent raise in the wages of the employees of the Grand Rapids and Indiana company, effective December 1, were received at this afternoon. All employees who are not now receiving $200 per month or over, will be beneficiaries in the new order. It is estimated that there are upwards of 600 employees on the Southern division of the G. R. & I., most of whom reside in this city. No figures concerning the amount of increase in the monthly distribution were obtainable here today, but they will aggregate a handsome sum. The men affected are dispatchers, telegraph operators, clerks, engineers and trainmen, section men and in fact all classes but those whose salaries debar them. The company has 2,555 employees and pays in wages $1,314,000 annually. A few days ago the Pennsylvania made a similar announcement and it is now in order for the Wabash, the Nickel Plate, the Lake Erie and the Western and the C. & H. & D. to do likewise. No doubt similar orders will soon be issued by each of these companies and particularly the Wabash. President Delano, of that company, said last week all railways would soon raise wages.

This afternoon notice was received at the Lake Shore freight offices that the clerks and other attaches excepting the agents would receive an increase of 10 per cent in wages dating from November 1. The announcement came unsolicited and as a surprise and it put the men affected in a good humor and grateful mood. There was nothing in the announcement to indicate that the company contemplated a raise in wages in other departments.

HURT IN A RUNAWAY.

I. P. Shidler, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, resumed work there this morning, after an absence of a week on account of injuries sustained in a runaway. While out driving with his wife the horse became frightened at a Nickel Plate engine and sled, overturning the buggy and throwing Mr. and Mrs. Shidler out. Both were injured, but Mrs. Shidler was not seriously hurt.

REWARDED THE OPERATOR.

For Preventing a Wreck W. E. Teeters Gets a Watch.

Of the 3,000 employees on the western division of the Pennsylvania system who entertain feelings of gratification toward the company and contentment with their lot, none is embued more strongly with that sentiment than W. E. Teeters, at present night operator at the Fort Wayne depot office. In common with himself his 2,999 fellow employees received notice a few days ago that their wages had been increased 10 per cent, but Mr. Teeters was distinguished by being the recipient of a magnificent gold case watch from the company. On the back of the watch, in large figures, is the monogram W. E. T. and the inner case bears this inscription:

"Presented to Operator W. E. Teeters by the Pennsylvania Company as a Token of Recognition on the Part of Its Officers of His Prompt and Intelligent Action in Preventing an Accident October 16, 1906."

Recently Mr. Teeters was informed that he was wanted at the superintendent's office and as soon as possible and with feelings of anxiety lest a reprimand awaited him, he responded to the call. When he entered the room, Supt. J. B. McKim handed him the package containing the watch and also uttered words of commendation of the deed which prompted the officers to make the present.

On the date mentioned in the inscription on the watch case, Mr. Teeters had charge of the crossing of the Pennsylvania and the Toledo and Ohio Central roads at Dunkirk, Ohio. The forty lever tower which controls the signals and tracks at that crossing is located on the triangular piece of ground formed by the two railways and the "Y" connecting them. On the night of October 16, the eastbound passenger, No. 8, was approaching a westbound freight train on the opposite track was crossing the T. & C. O. and when the engine and five or six cars of the freight had passed over, Mr. Teeters noticed the levers jerking unnaturally and at the same time heard a noise as if something was dragging over the track. Instantly he turned the distance signal against No. 8, and grabbing a lighted red lantern waved it crosswise of the tower window and attracted the attention of the man at the throttle of the passenger train, which was coming up the line at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The momentum of the train was so great that it could not stop until its engine turned up the "Y" and was within a few feet of a car loaded with coal and with her door trucks of the rails, but the locomotive and cars were not damaged.

As the passenger train turned up the "Y" the engineer on the freight train discovered something amiss and he stopped also and instituted an investigation which resulted in finding the wheels of three of the cars off the rails. These disarranged the machinery and opened the switch of the "Y" and put beyond the control of the "Y" and put. His prompt action and of the operator, which might have been accompanied by a loss of life and property. Engineer Ben. F. Campbell was at the throttle of No. 8's engine that night and his prompt action when he received the signals was also very creditable.

Mr. Teeters is a young man and has been in the service less than six years, but he is considered one of the most efficient and trustworthy operators on the line. He is a native of Davis, Ind., and learned telegraphy in the company's offices in that town. Shortly after the incident related in the foregoing lines, he was transferred to this city and given the night "trick" at the depot, a change which is in line of promotion.

ENGINES TO BE LARGER.

The standard size of freight engines on the Pennsylvania railroad is to be increased and the management has instructed the Altoona shops to construct twenty-five which will be larger than any yet built at that shop. The present standard for heavy road service east of Pittsburgh is a consolidation type engine, with a heating surface of 2,842 feet and cylinders 22x28 inches, drivers 56 inches, tractive power 40,000 pounds and working order weight 205,000. The new engines will have a heating surface of 3,850 square feet, cylinders 24x28 inches, four drivers 62 inches in diameter, a tractive power of 43,000 pounds and working weight of 225,000 pounds. With the larger and faster freight engine and a consequent increase in speed of freight trains, the company hopes to greatly relieve the situation in regard to car shortage.

TESTING LOCOMOTIVES.

Plant Where Largest Engines Can Be Run at Full Speed Indoors. Altoona, Pa., Nov. 12.—All the conditions of a 1,000-mile run by a locomotive pulling a heavy train can be duplicated in the huge indoor engine-testing plant which the Pennsylvania railroad has just completed here. By the arrangement of the testing apparatus the largest engines can be run at the top speed without traveling an inch. The great advantage is that constant results are obtainable and that these results can be measured and tabulated with far greater exactness than is possible in road trials. The amount of fuel consumed, the steam evaporated, even the weight of the cinders and sparks that go up the smokestack, the friction of the various parts—these are only a few of the elements of locomotive performance that are ascertained at the testing plant. Although this plant involved considerable expense, officials of the motive power department say that the value of the results obtainable will far exceed the cost of the venture.

Nine locomotives of different types not in regular use on the Pennsylvania have been purchased for testing purposes. One of them is a French engine, which, although it is below the Pennsylvania's standards, has suggested minor improvements in American designs. "We recognize that progress in locomotive building is not confined to any one road," said one of the Pennsylvania officials. "By tests and service, and by keeping in touch with advanced practice elsewhere, we are able to use to advantage the ideas we get from this study."

A locomotive undergoing a test at the Altoona plant rests on supporting wheels. The drawbar is attached to a stationary dynamometer with scales which weigh the pull. The supporting wheel axles extend so as to receive the absorption brakes, and the work done consists in overcoming the resistance of the wheels and brakes, the force exerted by the drawbar being measured by the dynamometer. The scales of the measuring device register the traction power of the locomotive, and pens attached to the scale levers make a permanent record of the performance.

Tests carried out under these conditions are so exhaustive and the records are so complete that for only eight locomotives the tabulated results fill a large volume, packed with information upon the basis of which more efficient "iron horses" can be designed and built.

WILL BEAUTIFY ROADBED.

Pennsylvania to Spend Thousands in That Direction.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—What an ideal roadbed should be, both for wearing qualities and appearance, according to the experts' latest dictum, is represented in four stretches of the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Grass, banks sloping smoothly down, when the tracks are in a cul-de-sac, are the features that strike the passenger's eye. Nine people out of ten think these sodded slopes are put there solely to please the eye, to make the Pennsylvania a road good to look at as well as to ride upon. This is a mistake—the grass is more useful than ornamental, and eventually it will mean the saving of thousands of dollars now spent on "maintenance of way."

"Water," said a prominent railroad official in a recent lecture, "is the greatest enemy of the roadbed." Water flowing down unadvised slopes causes erosion, washing dirt and stones into the ditch beside the track, and choking drainage. Perfect drainage is the secret of success in the maintenance of roadbed. If this be secured all else takes good care of itself.

Spend Hundreds to Save Thousands. It was in the summer of 1905 that President Cassatt suggested the present improvements in order to reduce the cost of maintenance as well as to make travel for the passengers of the Pennsylvania safer, more comfortable and altogether more agreeable. He appointed a committee of engineers of the company to prepare plans for a bed with drainage facilities as near perfect as possible, and the fifteen miles of new roadbed is the result of the committee's report. One of the five-mile stretches of standard roadbed is near Lancaster on the Philadelphia division, and the other near New Port, on the middle division. Two shorter stretches, two and a half miles each, are on the Pittsburgh division, one near the mountain, and the other about fifty miles east of Pittsburgh, at Hillside.

The Pennsylvania requires a ditch, ten and a half feet wide, on each side of a four-track road, and the bottom of the ditch must be three and a half feet below the level of the top of the tie. That means that there must be a decided slope from the lowest part of the roadbed to the ditch, so that water trickling through the ballast will flow off rapidly.

Oil to Keep Down Dust and Weeds. The ditch itself is of ordinary soil, but the company has tried the experiment, in some places, of sprinkling it with oil to keep down both weeds and dust. Whatever method is adopted, the important object is to keep the ditch clean and unobstructed. It has been found that the grass banks fill the ditch admirably. When it rains the water pours down over them without bringing anything with it, and follows the ditch to the nearest outlet.

The cost of the improvement of even the fifteen miles has been enormous. Seventy-three thousand cubic yards of new ballast were used in that short distance. The ballast was not to make the track more steady—that supply already there was sufficient for that—but to make the drainage perfect. The cost of sodding with blue grass was even a greater item. It was calculated by the engineers that 60 per cent of the entire cost was for cutting down and sodding the slopes.

The money will all come back, though, in saving of maintenance expenses. At present work trains crowded with laborers have to be on the move all the time for clearing ditches and putting in new ballast where it is necessary. In addition to the great cost of labor, the interference with traffic is a most important consideration in this constant overhauling. The work-trains have to use the main running tracks and inevitably get in the way of and retard both passenger and freight trains.

ENGINE TIRE BROKE.

And Came Through the Cab Door, Striking Conductor Dent.

A. B. Dent, Nickel Plate freight conductor met with a painful accident early Sunday morning which will lay him up for some time. He was riding on the fireman's seat of an engine which was being brought to this city from Stony Island, when the tire of one of the engine drivers came off, flying up through the cab floor, seriously bruising his right foot. The accident happened at Waukegan, Ind., and the injured man was brought to this city on train No. 6 and taken to St. Joseph hospital, where Dr. Dinnen attended him. Although no bones were broken, the injury is a serious one and Mr. Dent will be compelled to remain at the hospital for some time.

QUITTING THE ROAD.

If the present rate of resignations continue a short time, there will be nothing left of the section force on the Wabash road but the foremen. The men are paid 15 cents an hour and were able to earn $1.50 per day when they worked ten hours per day. But a recent order reduced the number of working hours to nine per day, making their wages $1.35 and they are looking elsewhere for employment.

APPRENTICE INJURED.

G. F. Hunt had one of his fingers crushed while at work in the Wabash shop Saturday. A block of wood he was using as a support to a machine fell and caught the digit beneath it and the injury is severe enough to keep him from work for several days. The young man is an apprentice.

The remains and the funeral party went to that city over the Nickel Plate, going down at noon and returning at 7:50 o'clock last evening.

E. A. Koomler, for some time lamp man at the Pennsylvania and G. R. & I. Junction at Adams, has been transferred to the junction of the same lines west of this city to work in a similar capacity. Mr. Koomler has purchased a small tract of land out near the G. R. & I. Junction and will move on it. He requested the transfer in order that he might be near home. Sixteen years ago he was a brakeman on the Pennsylvania, and while making a coupling at Valparaiso, lost his right hand.

An Imitation Stove Will Give Imitation Heat

Avoid the cheaply constructed, putty jointed stove as you would counterfeit money, because it is just as worthless—and in many cases even more so. For not only does it radiate heat badly, but it wastes its original cost many times in fuel.

The majority of manufacturers, attracted by the phenomenal success of Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, have imitated and copied it ever since it was put on the market. But in looks only have they been able to reproduce this wonderful heater.

For the features which make Cole's Hot Blast so economical in fuel, so effective in heating, and so durable in construction, are all patented and protected. The joints of the ordinary stove are plastered with stove putty in an endeavor to make them air-tight. When the putty dries up and falls out, cold air is sucked in through the cracks—and the valuable gases from soft or hard coal, which should be burned, go up the chimney, along with most of the heat.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove

Burns Soft Coal, Lignite, Hard Coal or Wood

Made without stove putty. It remains air tight during the entire life of the stove, and is sold under the following guarantee, which cannot be made on any other heating stove in the world:

GUARANTEE:

1.—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower priced stove of any make also with soft coal or lignite.
2.—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heat than any other stove with the same size fire pot.
3.—We guarantee that the stove can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft coal or hard coal and fire proof.

The big expense of heating your home is in the fuel and not the first cost of your stove. Don't let yourself be persuaded to buy anything but Cole's Original Hot Blast.

Ask for free booklet on "Scientific Combustion," which will show you how to heat your home twice as comfortably at one-half the present cost.

CAUTION See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago," on the feed door of each stove. None genuine without it.

REV. RAY O. MILLER

ASSUMES PASTORATE

PREDACHES SERMON AT WEST JEFFERSON STREET CHURCH.

Takes the Relative Positions of Church and the Pastor for His Theme.

Rev. Ray O. Miller, recently called to the pulpit of the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ, assumed charge of the pastorate yesterday and in his initial sermon took the theme of the relative positions of the church and the pastor.

Rev. Miller spoke in part as follows: "I don't have any single text of Scripture this morning upon which to base my remarks. But very briefly I want to call your attention to the subject of 'Christianity for Today' under the three divisions of (1) Jesus' idea of the Christian life and salvation; (2) the work of the church; (3) the pastor's place.

"As you can easily see, many books might have been written on any one of these various subjects. We cannot have such extended preparations this morning. (1) Jesus' idea of Christian life and salvation. We find Jesus' idea of the first not only in his words, but in his actions: for we expect in him no hypocrisy. His words, his actions, his life and salvation we should expect to find the same. In striving to get a static Jesus, a Jesus that had and has a sort of plaster of Paris form, we have, indeed, had many one-sided views of his life, character and ideas—and these profiles were mostly bad. I have seen him painted as a merely humble man. Underneath the drawing would be an inscription like this: 'And he answered not a word.' Now, whatever may have been in the past, this man will have nothing to do with a character which is all humbleness.

Different pictures of Jesus. "But what a different picture we get of Jesus as we see him in real life—the life that he lived here among men. Life and salvation—what did he say of them? Read the story of the prodigal son and the lost sheep and the woman at the well and the disciples in the corn field, his answers to the Pharisees about the Sabbath, his fishing experiences. Read these words of Jesus, and then see if any one of the various religious pictures gives him, whether it be a merely humble man or priest of power, corresponds.

"And the more I study present-day problems in connection with the life of Jesus the man the more I feel that the one suits the other. Organizations and charities and poor houses are all right, but the redemption and transformation of men and women must come. If it comes at all, through the individual methods of Jesus.

The Work of the Church.

"And this brings us to the second point in our discussion—(2)—the work of the church. You will notice that my discourse today takes up first the individual—Jesus' idea of life and salvation; second, the practical—the work of the church; and, third, a matter of method—the pastor's place. The first, the ideal, has been given by Jesus; the last, the method of the pastor, has been given in the early church; and the practical work of the church will ever remain a varying problem. Conditions and temperaments change, so that what has suited in past years may not suit today. I am willing to give all the glory due to the church in the past. Its mighty stories of heroic effort and sacrifice; its benefits to all perpetually the story of the cross; its inspiration of poetry and music; its hospitals and places of refuge. Before all of these I am silent, so great is my admiration. Still, we cannot look to the past—the present calls us; but in the streets of Fort Wayne tonight will be the young men and women of our homes—why are they not redeemed and redeeming others? 'If the mountain will not go to Mahomet, then Mahomet must go to the mountain'; and may it not be true that the church, in its work, ought to find some way to go to these men and women and redeem them for Christ and God? I would not have you think I am recommending a new propaganda—I believe in all the church now does—its services, its prayers, its material aid—but I believe also that it ought to find itself for the present age.

The Pastor's Place. "Third—the pastor's place. By what I have said on the ideal for life and the work of the church you know just about what I think the pastor's place ought to be. I came to you to do just as nearly as I can what I think Jesus would do if he were here. Your problems of life, your hopes, your aspirations I want to know; an example to the young, a solace to the aged; a sympathetic friend to all, I want to be. I come in the words of Jesus, to be ministered unto, but to minister. I want to know your religious and moral and intellectual problems, to which I shall give the consecration and devotion and sacrifice of my life. I came here, friends, with no feeling of elation, but rather of responsibility. The future will have its shadows and its sunshine; and these we must bear in the serenity and simplicity of Jesus Christ. I am most happy to be of service to you, and trust together we may glorify the Christ who made us free."

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is every foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result:

First letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have a severe female trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 5th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

Second letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me."

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realize the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 5th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D. C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.
